D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

What is Electricity?

By JOHN TROWBRIDGE, S.D., Rumford Professor and Lecturer on the Applications of Science to the Useful Arts, Harvard University. Vol. 76, International Scientific Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"I am often asked 'Where can one find a popular account of the views of scientific men in regard to the question 'What is Electricity?'" and from my inability to recommend any treatise which treats this question I have endeavored to explain in a popular manner the electromagnetic theory of light and heat; and I have devoted much attention to the subject of periodic current and electric waves. The answer to the question 'What is Electricity?' must be sought in the study of transformations of energy, and in a consideration of the various hypotheses of movements in the ether or medium surrounding us. The modern applications of electricity illustrate in a peculiarly suggestive manner the great subject of the transformation of energy, and I have endeavored to simplify forms of apparatus and methods of exhibiting new phenomena so that the apparatus and the methods should be within the reach of the ordinary demonstrator. The reader of the treatise will perceive that the attention of the scientific investigator in electricity is now being devoted more than ever to the medium surrounding a wire carrying a current of electricity rather than to the wire."—From a Note by the Author.

NEW EDITION OF

Allan Dare and Robert le Diable.

A Romance. By Admiral DAVID D. PORTER, author of "Incidents and Anecdotes of the Civil War," "The Adventures of Harry Marline," etc. New edition. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Notices of Previous Edition.

"All wonderfully vivid, exciting, and picturesque, with enough plot and incident already to furnish out some half-dozen ordinary novels. . . . It rivets the attention and holds it steadily by its force, originality, and daring."—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

Fiat Money Inflation in France.

How It Came, What It Brought, and How It Ended.

By ANDREW D. WHITE, LL.D., L.H.D., Ph.D., late President and Professor of History at Cornell University. New revised edition. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

"There is perhaps a special reason for issuing this new edition, in the fact that the principle involved in the proposed unlimited coinage of silver is, at bottom, identical with the idea which led to the fearful wreck of public and private prosperity in France. And there is an added reason in the fact that the utterances of the Chicago nominee and of the Populist platform point clearly and unmistakably to unlimited issues of paper money hereafter. . . . I have taken all pains to be exact, giving the authority for every important statement."—From the Author's Preface.

The Intellectual and Moral Development of the Child.

Containing the Chapters on Perception, Emotion, Memory, Imagination, and Consciousness. By GABRIEL COMPAYRÉ. Translated from the French by Mary E. Wilson, B. L. Smith College, Member of the Graduate Seminary in Child Study, University of California. Vol. 35, International Education Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

In America, Prof. Compayré, through the translations of his works on educational psychology, methods of instruction, and pedagogy, is already among the best-known writers on the subject of education, and, in view of the widespread interest in child study, the announcement of this volume will be gratifying to teachers and educators generally. The object of the present work is to bring together in a systematic, pedagogical form what is known regarding the development of infant children, so far as the facts have any bearing upon early education. It contains the chapters on Perception, Emotion, Memory, Imagination, and Consciousness. Another volume will follow, completing the work, and discussing the subjects of Judgment, Learning to Talk, Activity, Moral Sense, Character, Morbid Tendencies, Selfhood, and Personality.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY will issue next week "The Gingham Bag," by Margaret Sidney, a quaint and characteristic story of New England village life, illustrated by Amy Brooks.

THE MACMILLAN CO. will publish on the 25th inst. Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, "Sir George Tressady." It will be issued in two volumes, uniform with "Marcella," to which it is a sequel.

ROBERT BEALL, Washington, D. C., calls attention to a new edition, revised to June, 1896, of Brooks Adams's pamphlet entitled "The Gold Standard," considered to be one of the best contributions to the silver question in print.

THE CENTURY CO. has just issued a new edition of the pamphlet, "Cheap Money," containing the various brief articles which have appeared in The Century, giving a history of many of the cheap-money experiments which have been tried in this and in other countries. It has been issued in inexpensive form, and will be supplied by the hundred or the thousand at cost to those who wish to distribute it during the campaign.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish at once a "Life of Robert Whitaker McAll," founder of the McAll Mission. It is largely autobiographical and has been carefully edited by his widow. After many details of his boyhood and early pastorates, there is described the quiet beginnings but rapid development of his mission work, first in Paris and then in other French cities. There will be two portraits and several other illustrations.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish this month "History of the German Struggle for Liberty," by Poultney Bigelow, with illustrations by R. Caton Woodville, and with portraits and maps; "Impressions and Experiences," by W. D. Howells, which will include his picturesque paper on "The Country Printer," his "Glimpses of Central Park," an article on "New York streets," etc.; the long-promised second volume of Curtis's "Constitutional History"; "Literary Landmarks of Venice," by Laurence Hutton; "With My Neighbors," by Margaret E. Sangster, "The Old Infant, and similar stories," by Will Carleton; "Modern Greek Mastery," by Dr. T. L. Stedman; "Shakespeare the Boy," by William J. Rolfe; "Aspects of Fiction, and other ventures in criticism," by Brander Matthews; "Rick Dale," by Kirk Munroe; "Reminiscences of an Octogenarian, 1816-1860," by Charles H. Haswell; and a new edition of Lyell's "Geology."

FREDERICK A. STOKES CO. have just issued a new novel by James Knapp Reeve, of The Editor, entitled "Vawder's Understudy," a study in platonic affection, with illustrations by Louise L. Heustis; also, "The White Shield," a dramatic story of adventure in Africa, by Bertram Mitford, author of "The King's Assegai," etc., illustrated by David B. Keeler. On the 15th inst. they will issue Anthony Hope's new book, "The Heart of Princess Orsa," part of which appeared serially in McClure's under the title of "Zenda Stories." The time of the story is in an earlier period than that of the "Prisoner of Zenda." At the same time they will publish "Sweetheart Travellers," called by its author, S. R. Crockett, "a child's book for children, for women, and for men," which is largely an account of a cycling trip made by Mr. Crockett and his daughter through many odd corners of Great Britain; "One Day's Courtship," by Robert Barr, an amusing account of an episode that is supposed to occur at the Shawenegan Falls of the St. Maurice River, in Canada; and "The Herb-Moon," by John Oliver Hobbes. These will be followed by Sir Walter Besant's new story, "The City of Refuge," which deals with the supernatural to some extent, and whose chief incidents occur in a community situated near the city of Aldermanbury, New York.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The days which followed the Jacobite rising of 1745 is the period of this stirring historical romance. The scene alternates between France and England, the young Pretender Charles Edward being one of the characters. Life in the Bastille is well described. The events of the story result from the love of two men for the same woman. They are both followers of Charles Edward, but one goes over to the Hanoverian side, and seeks the life of the other by denouncing him while in England.

The Rev. W. A. P. Martin was for over a quarter of a century the president of the "Tung-wen Kwan" (College of Foreign Knowledge), a Chinese government institution at Peking. While holding this position, and previously as an attaché of the United States Legation, he was able to observe the march of events from a view-point at the command of few other westerners. His comments on recent history in the far east are those of an insider, who himself exerted not a little influence upon its course. His early service as a missionary in southern China is also touched upon, and throughout the book missionary matters are treated with sympathy and knowledge.

The tale of the white shield which had magical powers is told by an old African warrior to a white man and two Zulus resting in a gloomy mountain fastness of South Africa. The same narrator has already told the story of "The King's Assegai." This is a savage epic in prose of magic feats and magic arms, wholly heroic and three parts mythical. A beautiful woman in a lonely rock nest plays a romantic part.

- Reeve, Ja. Knapp. Vawder's understudy: a study in platonic affection; il. by Louise L. Heustis. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1896.] c. 2+197 p. nar. S. (Twentieth century ser.) buckram, 75 c. [2849]
Vawder was a writer of stories which never left his hand until he was satisfied that the characters were true types. While writing a novel intending to show how near the danger-line a man and woman might go in the way of platonic affection, and remain simply friends, he needed a model for his heroine, and made an arrangement with a society woman to take the part of his heroine and act to him as she would act to the hero. The conversations they have about the truth of Vawder's work make the story.

Usher, E. P. Protestantism: a study in the direction of religious truth and Christian unity. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1897 [1896.] c. 2-440 p. O. cl., $1.50. [2866]

An answer to the question, "What is the Christian religion?" The author is a Harvard graduate, who has given his leisure time for nearly fifteen years to the preparation of the work. Christianity is set forth not as sacramental or theological or hierarchical, but as purely ethical and spiritual. The author believes Christianity rightly understood is the final religion of mankind, but that it has been perverted so that it exists to-day only in conventional form, of which the various churches are visible expression; the churches, he believes, stand in a large measure in the way of real Christianity.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES STANLEY REINHART, the well-known illustrator and painter, died at the Players, 16 Gramercy Park, New York. August 30. He was born in Pittsburg, Pa., May 6, 1844.

HENRY J. WINSER, for many years well and favorably known in New York as a journalist, and for some time managing editor of the Commercial Advertiser, died at his home in Newark, N. J., August 24. He was born in Bermuda in 1834.

NICHOLAS RUDINGER, the celebrated German anatomist, died at Tutzing, Bavaria, on August 24. He was born at Rudesheim March 25, 1852, and became professor of anatomy in the University of Munich in 1870. Dr. Rudinger was the author of many books and papers on the science of anatomy.

DR. CHARLES LOTIN HILDRETH, who was gaining prominence among the younger poets and writers of this country, died at the residence of his wife's sister, Mrs. Mary Kyle Dallas, in New York City, from the effects of the intense heat during the beginning of the month of August.

DR. CHARLES G. RAUE, the distinguished homœopathic physician, died at his home in Philadelphia on August 19. Dr. Raue has written many works on the subject of medicine, all of which are extensively used among homœopathic schools. In 1889, after a life-long study of psychology, Dr. Raue wrote his great work on "Psychology as a Natural Science," which is considered one of the best works of the subject in existence.

"CAMILLA SELDEN," the woman who so tenderly nursed Heinrich Heine during the last months of his illness, died last month in Rouen, France, where she had lived latterly, gaining her livelihood as a teacher of German. The poet, who gave her the name of "Mouche," addressed to her his last poem, and the letters he wrote to her are most pathetic. "Camilla Selden," whose real name was Elise von Krienitz, published in 1884 a book entitled "Les derniers jours de Henri Heine."

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 5, 1896.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

THE CORRESPONDENCE DEPARTMENT.*

THE success of the correspondence department depends much on close attention to detail inside and upon careful and judicious advertising on the outside. The large houses who do an extensive mail-order business are careful to keep up their appropriation each year to purchase space in mediums of large general circulation. They always use liberal spaces, and apparently do not believe in small "ads." The minimum seems to be at least five inches single column. Copy is looked after carefully and changed frequently. There must be no half-hearted or spasmodic attempts. The dealer must have the courage of his convictions, and keep his business everlastingly before the public, not only in his immediate locality but also as far abroad as possible.

In advertising, as in window display, it is better to confine oneself to as few articles as possible. An advertisement calling attention to a few leaders, with short, direct descriptions and the price, is considered the best result-bringer. To each advertisement should be added a request for catalogue. The name and address of each applicant should be carefully registered, and the catalogue forwarded promptly. If no notice is taken in a reasonable time, a note of the fact should be entered against the applicant's name, and it may be skipped when the next batch of new catalogues is sent out. If an order, however small, is received, the purchaser should be favored with attention when the next catalogue is mailed; he should practically be considered a customer of the house, and every means employed to retain his trade.

The manager of a large department store in *Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." See also the issues of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for November 2 and 9, 1895.

New York advises that when no response is received by the time such a customer has had the second catalogue long enough to have sent an order, a reply postal-card like the following should be sent:

"MAIL-ORDER DEPARTMENT.

"On looking through our registers we note that you have not favored us with an order for some time past; as we are anxious to retain you as one of our patrons, we would thank you to inform us if you have had any cause for complaint, that we may thoroughly investigate and do justice to all concerned. Please let us hear from you, and on application we will mail you one of our catalogues for ———."

"Trusting that this may merit your approval, and hoping for a renewal of our business relations with you, we are,

Yours truly,

If no response is received to this postal the customer's name may be dropped. But it will be found that in nine cases out of ten that some kind of response is received that will pave the way to a correspondence, bring further orders, and eventually establish the customer. Constant care and close attention to details is required to keep the correspondence department in working order. Even an original order amounting to fifty cents, if carefully and promptly attended to, may make a customer who will in time buy hundreds of dollars' worth a year.

Special attention should be given to the preparation of a catalogue. This should be a serious publication, carefully worded and well-printed, that it may create a desire to purchase by the evident honesty of every detail. It must be remembered that the catalogue is the canvasser for the house, and hence should make as favorable an impression upon its recipient as the most efficient attendant at the store would be expected to make. Loose statement, a huddled-up arrangement of the items, poor paper, and sloppy printing will repel rather than attract a prospective customer. Upon its individuality almost everything will depend. In this connection we venture to recommend The Literary News, issued by the office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. The Literary News month by month speaks of all the new books of importance in such a way as to create a desire on the part of the buyer to read the books himself. It is suggestive and incentive, strictly literary, and without any of the elements of "puff" which make the average advertising circular objectionable. A year's volume of this medium is worth preserving, as it presents an able survey of the literature of the time, and succeeds in conveying more information in a given time than it would be possible for a salesman to give by word of mouth in twice the time.

The Literary News is issued in separate editions with the dealer's imprint or business card, so that it passes as his own publication. A number of booksellers who use this medium add special advertising matter of their own, including local advertising matter, the income from which very nearly, if not quite, reimburses them for their outlay on it.

Whatever medium is used, care should be taken, as we have already pointed out, that the catalogue is dignified and to the point, otherwise it might be better to send out none at all. An unfavorable impression in this direction is not easily removed.

THE SAVAGE-NEELY COMPLICATION.

THE examination before trial of the books of F. Tennyson Neely, in the suit of Savage vs. Neely, was continued in the Supreme Court on the 2d inst., under order of Judge Beach.

A boy accompanying Mr. Neely carried a small package of books into the examination-room. Mr. Smith, attorney for plaintiff, seemed irritated because Neely had told the Court previously that a carload of them was coming from Chicago.

"Have you the original books of account between yourself and the plaintiff here?"

"Yes," answered Neely. "Some are here and some are on the wagon at the door." Mr. Smith looked mollified, and called for the books showing the sales of novels of Colonel Savage. Mr. Neely sent a boy down to the truck at the door for the books, and this took up time.

"Have you the original printer's bills showing the number of copies of Colonel Savage's books printed?"

"Yes, some of them. Some have not been found and some were destroyed."

"Produce those you have."

Mr. Neely again called the boy and sent him down to the wagon for the bills. Matters began to drag.

Mr. Neely was then asked to produce the first book showing the original sales, and read the first item showing the sale of the book "Little Lady of Lagunitas." Mr. Neely began to read.

"Now, I don't want any long speeches," cut in Mr. Smith.

"Don't interrupt me," said Neely.

Mr. Neely seemed to have changed his tactics since the previous examination. Then he gave twenty-minute answers to each question put. At the hearing on the 2d inst. he took time to think after each question, and went on a long hunt for every book or paper he was told to produce.

"Have you the printer's bills for any of the novels of Colonel Savage published by you?"

Mr. Neely found them after a protracted search and read a number for some of Colonel Savage's books. Mr. Smith wanted more bills and Mr. Stayton, Neely's counsel, went down to the wagon for another load of papers. Just half an hour was spent looking over files by Stayton and Neely, but no more bills were found. The adjournment hour then arrived, and Mr. Smith said he would lay the matter before the Court and ask for another day for examination.

Stayton and Smith went before Justice Beach

after the hearing, by mutual agreement, to have another day for the hearing set. Mr. Smith wanted to press his motion to have Neely punished at once for contempt, but Mr. Stayton said he had a motion pending before Justice Pryor to send the whole matter to a referee, and this would be up on the 8th inst. He wanted the matter put off until after the hearing of the motion. Justice Beach finally got the lawyers to stipulate that both motions would be heard, and, giving Justice Pryor a chance to decide them, he put the further examination of Mr. Neely over until the 8th inst.

(a) Japanese verse of seventeen syllables.

"That Japan is drawing heavily upon other countries for its literature may be seen in the fact that nearly 20,000 of these volumes were compilations and translations, and a trifle over 7000 original. A large number of these works are of a technical character—over 2500 on drawing, showing what an interest the Japanese themselves take in art. Indeed, of the original works over 3000 out of the 7000 are on drawing and engraving. This table is suggestive in many directions."

POSTAL MATTERS.

IDENTIFICATION BOOKS.

PASSPORTS are intended primarily for the purpose of identification. The same idea is the object of a scheme which has been adopted lately by a number of the nations of the world. The question whether it shall be taken up by the United States is to be discussed at the convention to be held in Washington next winter.

The idea referred to is nothing more or less than an identification book which enables the holder to establish his identity wherever in the world he may be. This is often a matter of the utmost importance. Travellers ignorant of the language of the country through which they are journeying are apt to have trouble in securing mail addressed to them, in cashing money orders, and in various other ways. They may even find themselves stranded for lack of the very funds which are awaiting them at the post-office, simply because they are not personally known. It is mainly through agitation of the subject by tourists that the identification book has become an accomplished fact.

The book of identification is described in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat as a small, green, paper-covered book of convenient size for the pocket. It costs only ten cents, and may be bought at any post-office. On the inside of the cover is placed a photograph of the holder, tied in place and fastened by a sealed ribbon. To this is attached the signature of the person. On the opposite page is a declaration signed by the post-office official, saying that photograph and signature are genuine. Of course the official witnesses the making of the signature and is easily able to determine whether the portrait is a likeness of the applicant or not. On the next page is a full description of the holder of the book, giving details as to height, eyes, nose, forehead, chin, mouth, coloring, hair, and "particular marks." Thus, if a man has a wart on his nose it is mentioned.

Now follows a declaration to the effect that "on presentation of this book and the signing of a receipt any post-office is required to deliver to the holder all mail-matter addressed to him." It is necessary, however, that the signature on the receipt shall correspond to the signature on the book, and that the lineaments of the person shall agree with the photograph and the description given in the book. Two-thirds of the book of identification is made up of a series of receipts arranged like bank-checks, which may be torn out and given in exchange for mail-matter or money transmitted by mail.

It is easy to see that the plan is calculated to save an immense amount of trouble. The post-office which receives the last receipt of a book of identity retains the stub of the receipt book, and if the holder of the book demands it must issue to him a new book without requiring further proofs of identity. The sheets of the book, duly numbered, are attached to the cover by a ribbon in the national colors of the country that sells the book, and the two ends of the ribbon are fastened by an official seal.

Already the scheme has been adopted by France, Italy, Switzerland, Turkey, the Argentine Republic, Brazil, Bulgaria, Colombia, Costa Rica, Egypt, Greece, Liberia, Mexico, Paraguay, Portugal, Roumania, Tunis, Venezuela, and Chili. It remains to be seen whether it will be accepted by the United States.

NEWS CORRESPONDENCE CAN BE CARRIED BY EXPRESS.

RESPONDING to numerous inquiries regarding the full scope and effect of the order of the Post-Office Department forbidding railroad companies to carry correspondence relating to other than their own business on their trains, Mr. Charles Neilson, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, has published the letter of Postmaster-General Wilson to E. Prentiss Bailey, editor of The Utica Observer, on the subject. The letter quotes the following ruling, made by the department several years ago:

"The Post-Office Department has never insisted that it is unlawful to carry by express, or by private carriage, such manuscript as is intended for publication, when not accompanied by any matter in the nature of personal correspondence. Mere news matter prepared by the correspondents of the press for the columns of their papers can, under this ruling, be carried by express or otherwise than in the mails; but if any matter in the nature of personal correspondence is enclosed with such manuscript, it can only be carried (lawfully) in the cover of a Government stamped envelope."

"It was not the intention of the order referred to," said Mr. Wilson, "to change that ruling."

This interpretation of the order will be sent to all railroad and express companies, so that the practice, so long in vogue, of sending news matter to destination in care of baggage-master or express agent need not be interfered with. For a time, under the construction of the late order, some railroad companies refused to handle the matter.

GROWTH OF POST-OFFICE BUSINESS.

THE growth of the Post-Office business of the country has been amazing. At the close of the Revolutionary War there were only 75 post-offices in the United States. At the close of the War of 1812 there were 3000. At the beginning of the Civil War there were 28,586, and five years after its close, in 1870, there were 28,492, or about 100 fewer, the only step backward during the history of the Post-Office Department. By 1880 the upward rise had started again in full force, and the number of post-offices in the country reached 42,000. There are now 60,000 post-offices in the United States, and the number is constantly being increased.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

GILBERT PARKER has recently completed a new short serial story entitled "Cumner's Son."

THE birth of Charlotte and Emily Brontë is to be commemorated by the building of a $5000 organ in the church at Thornton, England.

TAINE left a lot of manuscript poetry, now in the possession of M. de Heredia, of the French Academy, who, in justice to the historian, will allow no one to read it.

J. M. BARRIE writes to the New York Herald: "I warn managers against a stage production of 'The Little Minister.' It is illegal, as my rights are fully protected by my contract, which was mislaid, but is now found."

THE Tom Hughes memorial fund now accumulating at Messrs. Prescott, Dimsdale & Co.'s, Cornhill, London, is to be used for the erection of a life-size statue of Judge Hughes at Rugby. Any surplus that may remain is to go to the home mission work identified with Rugby.

DR. HOLMES was asked during the last year of his life for an interview by a popular magazine. With prompt wit he declared that he refused to be lured or Maclured into anything of the kind. Eventually he allowed his old friend, E. E. Hale, to interview him for the magazine in question.

CLEMENT K. SHORTER, one of the most industrious of literary workers, who has just edited a Matthew Arnold anthology in the Nineteenth-Century Classics, and has almost finished a work on the Brontës, has married Miss Dora Sigerson, a poet of some reputation, who claims Ireland as her birthplace.

LADY BURTON left an unfinished autobiography which will be incorporated with the "Life of the Late Lady Burton," which W. H. Wilkins has been authorized to write. By Lady Burton's wish copies of her "Life of Sir Richard Burton" are being given to English public libraries which make application.

IAN MACLAREN's American trip has been now somewhat definitely marked out. He sails from Liverpool on the Germanic, September 16, and the first of his Lyman Beecher lectures at Yale will be delivered September 28. He expects to return home before Christmas, having in the meantime visited different sections of the country.

GRANT ALLEN has lately been elected president of the Microscopic and Natural History Society at Haslemere, in Surrey. There was strong opposition to his election on account of the moral views expressed in his novel, "The Woman Who Did," and when it was found that he had been elected by a majority of two votes, several members expressed their determination to resign.

BJÖRNSTJERNE BJÖRNSEN is about to leave Norway, to take up his permanent residence in Germany. In a recent issue of the Verdens Gang he states that the continued attacks upon him at home are the cause of this decision, and that he believes that he will find a more congenial field for his literary labors in Germany, where he will have fewer temptations to take part in politics.

FRASER RAE, author of "The Lief of Sheridan," published by Henry Holt & Co., will contribute to an early number of the Nineteenth Century a paper relating to points dwelt upon by Mr. Gladstone in his article on Sheridan in the June number, and he will publish for the first time interesting letters from Sheridan's son Tom, the Duke of Bedford, Sheridan himself, and Charles James Fox.

FROM a note in a recent issue of The Echo, of London, we learn that "The Yellow Dwarf," who attacked "Trilby" so mercilessly in The Yellow Book, is said to be Henry Harland, and that "Edith Hamlet," author of "The Touch of Sorrow," is really the Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton, while "Martin Pritchard," who wrote that extraordinary novel, "Without Sin," is the daughter of Lady Monckton.

MAX BEERBOHM is now almost as well known for his clever caricatures as for his curious essays. He devotes himself to caricaturing his literary friends, and a fresh series of these drawings is to begin in the Chap Book for September 1. Among them are caricatures of Andrew Lang, William Archer, G. Bernard Shaw, Clyde Fitch, and lastly Mr. Max Beerbohm himself. The latter is perhaps the best of all.

VERESTSCHAGIN is about to publish a book called "Autobiographies of Unimportant People." It is a series of sketches, with characteristic portraits of soldiers, priests, beggars, and other Russian types. Pictures by this great Russian realist are not often seen here, but many can remember with no little pleasure the fine collection of this artist's works that was exhibited in New York and other American cities a few years ago.

THE Emperor of Russia, according to the New York Tribune, "promises to deserve well of folklorists and students of early music. His influence is at the bottom of a remarkable inquiry which is being instituted in the provinces of Tambow, Penza, Simbirsk, and Nijni Novgorod, and which is to be carried, ultimately, over a much larger portion of the Russian dominions. This inquiry, which is under the management of M. Istomine, an ethnographical authority of some eminence, has for its object the formation of a collection of the popular songs and national ballads of Russia. The position to which those songs and ballads have risen, ever since the modern Slav composers took up the primitive inspiration where Glinka left it, is well known to all students, and they will welcome the Czar's contribution to folk-lore, poetical and musical scholarship." The Czar has subscribed 2000 roubles for a statue to Lavoisier, the father of scientific chemistry, which France proposes to erect after a century's delay. The French contributions already amount to $10,000. All the gas companies of France have subscribed to the fund.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Red Letter, Boston, Mass., is a new illustrated literary monthly, edited by Richard Gorham Badger.

R. D. BLACKMORE's new story, "Dariel, a romance of Surrey," will commence in the October issue of Blackwood's Magazine.

GENERAL HORACE PORTER's personal recollections of General Grant, which The Century will publish beginning in November, are to be called "Campaigning with Grant."

THE publishers of Littell's Living Age are about to introduce several new features in their magazine. The most important of these is a "Monthly Supplement," given without additional cost to the subscribers, which will contain "Readings from American Magazines," "Readings from New Books," and also a list of "Books of the Month."

The Ladies' Home Journal has secured "The Minister of St. Bede's," a new short story by Ian Maclaren. It will be published in the October and November numbers. George W. Smalley is employing a two months' holiday in gathering material abroad for some special articles for the Journal, Germany and England being the countries visited for the purpose.

The Open Court for August 27 contained the first instalment of a novelette by Richard Wagner, entitled "A Pilgrimage to Beethoven." In his fictitious discussion with Beethoven, Wagner seeks to support by the great authority of the Master his own new and peculiar theories of dramatic music, the arguments for which he has probably presented here in better form than anywhere else. This novel has never appeared in English before, and as it can only be obtained in the expensive edition of Wagner's collected works, was never widely accessible even to the German public.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

COPELAND & DAY have issued a cheap edition, in paper covers, of Alice Brown's stories of New England life, entitled "Meadow Grass."

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just published a new book by Theo. F. Seward, the author of "The School of Life," entitled "Heaven Every Day, or, common-sense Christianity." The same publisher will also issue "The Inspiration of History," by the Rev. Dr. James Mulchahey, Vicar-Emeritus of St. Paul's Chapel.

CHARLES T. DILLINGHAM will sail for home on the 10th inst., by the Spaarndam, of the Dutch line, from Boulogne. From a letter to one of his friends we are pleased to learn that he thinks he feels "twenty years younger, as it is the first real vacation I have had during the thirty-eight years that I have been in the book trade."

THE first meeting, after the vacation season, of the Booksellers' League will be held at Hardman Hall, on the evening of the 18th inst. The occasion will be considered in the light of a reunion, and no set programme will be presented. Light refreshments, pipes and tobacco, as well as music, song, and recitations, however, may be expected.

THOSE who have become interested in the affairs of Spain during her recent misfortunes, will be interested in the announcement by The Macmillan Company of a volume of historical studies, entitled "The Year After the Armada." The writer is Martin A. S. Hume, author of "The Courtships of Queen Elizabeth," and editor of the Calendar of Spanish State Papers of Elizabeth, in the Public Record Office. Among the theological books announced by The Macmillan Company is an interesting volume by the Rev. J. E. C. Welldon, D.D., entitled "The Hope of Immortality." It is not intended, however, especially for theologians, but, "on the contrary, is for those who, without such pretensions, have yet deep thoughts and feelings about religion, and a desire to face the facts of human nature and life." They will publish at once "At the Gate of the Fold," by J. S. Fletcher, the author of "Where Highways Cross."

THE famous Herzog "Encyclopædia of Protestant Theology," the standard work of its kind in German, and the basis of the Schaff-

Herzog condensation in English (published in this country by the Funk & Wagnalls Co.), is now beginning to appear in a third and entirely revised edition, issued by the original publishers, Hinrichs, of Leipzig. The new edition will be edited by the Church historian of the Leipzig faculty, Professor Haupt, in 180 parts, each to cost one mark. Professor Haupt had been co-editor of the latter part of the second edition, which was issued nearly twenty years ago. In general the tone and tendency of the work will remain, theologically considered, the same, with possibly a somewhat stronger representation of the more liberal type of thought. The aim is to produce only articles scientifically up to the high-water mark, the discussions being practically exhaustive. In its way and manner it strongly resembles the "Britannica."

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT has just issued the third volume of the official records of the Union and Confederate navies in the war of the rebellion, covering the operations of the cruisers from April 1, 1864, to Dec. 30, 1865, thus completing the first series of publication as planned under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy. The second series will treat of the condition and outfit of the Union and Confederate navies from 1861, with statistical data regarding returns of captured property and correspondence relating to naval prisoners. The present volume has all the value inherent in a compilation from original sources, and the period of time of which it treats includes some of the most important naval operations of the war, such as the cruise and engagements of the Kearsarge and the Alabama, affairs in the vicinity of the northern lakes, movements of blockade-runners, and especially of the cruises of the Confederate steamers Florida, Tallahassee, Rappahannock, Stonewall, and Shenandoah. More than ordinary interest attaches to these Confederate records, which have been gathered often at the expenditure of great effort and research, and are now first published.

THE following announcement is made by the Finance Committee of the Congregational Sunday-school and Publishing Society: "The Finance Committee of the Congregational Sunday-school and Publishing Society has taken action looking to the transfer of J. H. Tewksbury, their Chicago agent, to Boston. Mr. Tewksbury has managed the Western business very successfully for the past nine years, and he is admirably qualified to take the position at headquarters recently made vacant by the death of Mr. George P. Smith. The formal appointment as agent cannot be made until the October meeting of the Board of Directors; but Mr. Tewksbury comes to Boston in September at the request of the officers of the Society to organize the fall work. Edward Herrick Brown, for several years in the employ of the Society in Boston, goes to Chicago, and will be in charge of the business there for the rest of the Society's fiscal year, during which time Mr. Tewksbury retains nominally his position as Chicago agent. It is expected that Mr. Tewksbury will have general oversight of the business in both Boston and Chicago, and eventually relieve Mr. Whittemore, in part or wholly, of his duties as business manager, from which position the latter has desired to retire for some time."

FOREIGN NOTES.

WILLIAM BRIGGS, of Toronto, has in press a work entitled "In the Days of the Canada Company," by Robina and K. M. Lizars. The work, which is, in brief, the history of the settlement of the Huron Tract, will be embellished by maps, portraits, and views.

JOHN MURRAY will publish in the fall a posthumous book by the late Mrs. Rundle Charles, known as the author of "The Schönberg-Cotta Family." It will be entitled "Our Seven Homes," and will give an account of her own early life and the development of her opinions.

GEORGE ALLEN, London, will publish early in October a new work by Augustus J. C. Hare, entitled "The Story of My Life." It will contain, in addition to the subject-matter, a number of reminiscences and anecdotes of famous people—Tennyson, Carlyle, Scott, Shelley, Ruskin, Dickens, Landor, the Brownings and Arnolds, Lady Blessington, and Lord Houghton, amongst others. The three volumes will be profusely illustrated by photogravure plates and wood-cuts.

IN the latter part of last year there was published, by direction of the trustees of the British Museum, a series of "Fac-similes of Royal, Historical, Literary, and Other Autographs in the Department of Manuscripts." It appeared, however, without any explanatory apparatus, which rendered its usefulness to all but specialists very small. The second series, just issued, contains much valuable information from the pen of the editor, G. F. Warner, assistant keeper of manuscripts at the Museum. This second series opens with the handwriting of Henry v., closes with that of Tennyson, and contains specimens of the writing of Milton, Sir Christopher Wren, Hogarth, Cowper, Gibbon, Burns, Shelley, Charles Lamb, and Voltaire—the latter being represented by an English letter written in 1760. The publication of these series will be continued from year to year, at the moderate price of threepence.

THE library of the late Professor Ernst Curtius is to be sold. The value of such a possession to some of our younger American universities is obvious, and it is to be hoped that our educational benefactors will not neglect this rare opportunity. In the opinion of Dr. Weyl, chief librarian of the Royal Library of Berlin, the Curtius collection is the most important of its kind that has been offered to the public since the death of Otto Jahn. It consists of about 3500 bound volumes, and of at least as many more rare and valuable treatises in pamphlet form. Classical philology is represented in both old and new editions, and these volumes derive an incalculable value from the fact that many of them contain innumerable marginal comments and conjectures from the hand of the great scholar. There are also the monumental publications from original sources like the "Corpus Inscriptionum Latinarum et Græcarum," as well as sets of all the more important periodicals relating to archæology, epigraphy, and numismatics. Further information may be had upon application to Charles H. Genung, Nutley, N. J., or by communicating directly with Prof. Herman Grimm, Matthæikirchplatz 5, Berlin, W.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance; otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

NEW EDUCATIONAL WORKS.

ALMOST READY.

SELECTIONS FROM CHAUCER'S CANTERBURY TALES

Edited for Schools by HIRAM CORSON, Professor of English Literature in Cornell University.

Notes and Glossary are appended to the text. The Notes will be more of a literary character than philological. It has not been thought necessary to give in the Glossary, except to a very limited extent, the etymology of words which are still in the language and which are recognizable in any of their Fourteenth Century forms. Where they are not so recognizable, they are explained by their modern forms, and when necessary by additional other words defining the meanings they may have in Chaucer different from their present meanings.

Teachers having classes in which such a book may prove available for introduction, are asked to correspond with us in reference to specimen copies and terms for introduction.

STUDIES IN STRUCTURE AND STYLE

(Based on seven modern English Essays), by W. T. BREWSTER, A.M., Tutor in Rhetoric and English Composition at Columbia University, with an Introduction by G. R. CARPENTER, A.B., Professor of Rhetoric and English Composition at Columbia University. 12mo, cloth, $1.00, net.

"It is well conceived, and the selections are excellent for their purpose."—Prof. FELIX E. SCHELLING, University of Pennsylvania.

"The selections seem to be chosen with good judgment, and the notes to be careful and instructive."—Prof. FRED. P. EMERY, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

By OLIVER FARRAR EMERSON, A.M., Professor in Western Reserve University. 16mo, cloth, $1.00, net.

The aim has been to shorten and simplify the History of the English Language by the omission of technical details, especially regarding the phonology of the language, without changing materially the scope of the former work.

SECOND AMERICAN EDITION OF

HALL AND KNIGHT'S ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA

Revised and Enlarged for the use of American Schools and Colleges by FRANK L. SEVENOAK, A.M. 12mo, half leather, $1.10 net.

ALMOST READY.

LOCK'S TRIGONOMETRY FOR BEGINNERS

Revised for American Schools by JOHN ANTHONY MILLER, A.M., Professor of Mechanics and Astronomy at the Indiana University.

ALMOST READY.

ELEMENTARY SOLID GEOMETRY

By H. D. THOMSON, D.Sc., Ph.D., Professor of Mathematics in Princeton University.

NEW VOLUME IN THE ELEMENTARY CLASSICS SERIES.

SELECTIONS FROM CORNELIUS NEPOS

Uniform with American Edition of "Helvetian War," "Invasion of Britain," "Cicero's Senectute," etc. By J. EDMUND BARSS, M.A., of the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn. 16mo, cloth, 40 cents, net.

It will contain, besides seven "Lives" and the "Praefatio," notes, maps, a special vocabulary, word groups, and exercises based on the text for translation into Latin.

Long vowels will be marked, and references given to the grammars of Allen and Greenough, Bennett, Gildersleeve-Lodge, and Harkness. The text will have the topical headings characteristic of the series.

ELEMENTARY PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY

By RALPH S. TARR, B.S., F.G.S.A., Assistant Professor of Dynamic Geology and Physical Geography at Cornell University. 8vo, cloth, 488 pp., $1.40, net.

"It is without question a complete, comprehensive, and scientific work on a very important subject of present interest in the schools. In subject-matter, illustrations, style, and clearness it is admirable. It is the most valuable contribution yet made to the study of geography."—CLARENCE E. MELENKY, Assistant Supt., New York City.

AMERICAN EDITION OF

CHARLES SMITH'S ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA

For the use of Preparatory Schools, High Schools, Academies, Seminaries, etc. By IRVING STRINGHAM, Ph.D., Professor of Mathematics and Dean of the College Faculties in the University of California. Briefer Edition. 408 pp., $1.10. This edition is the same as Chapters I.-XXVI. of the Complete Edition. 584 pp., $1.20, net.

JUST PUBLISHED.

OUTLINES OF ECONOMIC THEORY

By HERBERT JOSEPH DAVENPORT. Cloth, $2.00, net.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, 66 Fifth Ave., New York.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO., Chicago.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

WITHOUT SIN. A Novel. By MARTIN J. PRITCHARD. 1 mo, $1.25.

The New York Journal gave a half page to a review of the book and proclaimed it "the most startling novel yet."

"Abounds in situations of thrilling interest. A unique and daring book"—Review of Reviews (London).

"One is hardly likely to go far wrong in predicting that 'Without Sin' will attract abundant notice. Too much can scarcely be said in praise of Mr. Pritchard's treatment of his subject."—Academy (London).

CHECKERS. A Hard-Luck Story. By HENRY M. BLOSSOM, JR., author of the "Documents in Evidence." Second edition now ready. 16mo, $1.25.

"Abounds in the most racy and picturesque slang."—N. Y. Recorder.

"If I had to ride from New York to Chicago on a slow train, I should like half a dozen books as gladsome as 'Checkers,' and I could laugh at the trip."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

EPISCOPO & COMPANY. By GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO. Translated by Myrta Leonora Jones. 16mo, $1.25.

"It is strong to intensity; alive with deep emotion; is a character study graphic to the point of conviction. A most pitiful, unpleasant, powerful picture; dramatic, thrilling, told in the perfection of style; a finished bit of literary art, such is 'Episcopo & Co.,' the only translatable book written by this young genius of an Italian."—Kansas City Star.

PROSE FANCIES. Second Series. By RICHARD LE GALLIENNE. 16mo, $1.25.

"Mr. Le Gallienne is first of all a poet, and these little essays which savor somewhat of Lamb, of Montaigne, of Lang, and of Birrell, are larded with verse of exquisite grace. He rarely ventures into the grotesque, but his fancy follows fair paths; a certain quaintness of expression and the idyllic atmosphere of the book charm one at the beginning and carry one through the nineteen 'fancies' that comprise the volume."—Chicago Record.

To be had of all booksellers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price by the publishers,

HERBERT S. STONE & CO., . . . Chicago.

THE AMERICAN BOOK MARKET.

"The great Western field of intellectual activity," says the International Bookseller, "is a factor of such importance in the consideration of every good house that we may be said to be building books for the East only incidentally, such gigantic strides has every department of literary life taken in the West."

This unprecedented literary growth has been—as is natural—identical with the growth of a high-class literary journal in the West. THE DIAL's aim and mission has been, and is, to further this literary development and guide it aright—to stimulate the love of reading and the demand for good books.

THE DIAL is therefore the natural and pre-eminent medium for book advertisers who would reach the great Western market. It goes to the most active and most progressive classes—to the enterprising libraries, dealers, and private bookbuyers. Its readers respect it, and are influenced by what they see in its advertising pages as well as its literary columns. It is the accustomed literary guide and dependence of thousands of bookbuying people.

"The best quality of circulation," says Printer's Ink, "is the circulation that reaches the people the advertiser wishes to reach—the people who are most apt to buy his article."

TIMELY BOOKS.

A NEW VOLUME IN THE

"PUBLIC MEN OF TO-DAY" SERIES.

Pope Leo XIII.

By JUSTIN MCCARTHY, author of "History of Our Own Times," etc. With an interesting portrait. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"We are not surprised to find on every page of Mr. McCarthy's admirable book the distinct impress of a great personality. . . . There is not a dull page in the book."—The Outlook, N. Y.

UNIFORM WITH ABOVE:

Li Hung Chang.

By Professor ROBERT K. DOUGLAS, author of "Society in China." 12mo, $1.25.

"Timely and valuable. . . . The greatest man in China."—N. Y. Observer.

"An unusually interesting book."—N. Y. Times.

Social Observances.

A Series of Essays on Practical Etiquette (English). By "AU FAIT." 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

*Treats of such matters as Society Functions—Paying Calls—Society in the Country—Dinner Parties—Dances—Chaperonage—Shooting Parties—Luncheons—Afternoon Teas—Types of Society Women—What Men Say About Women's Dress—Letter-writing, etc.
